Epicurean

FARM-TO-TERRANEA | The fruits of the earth not only nourish the body, but also the human spirit. In celebration of nature’s gifts, Terranea’s talented executive chef, Bernard Ibarra, passionately harvests ingredients from the resort gardens and buys from local growers to create exceptional Farm-to-Terranea dining experiences. The wealth of dining options offered to guests is perhaps the only thing that rivals the views from Terranea. Each of the resort’s food and beverage outlets displays the same commitment to sustainability and responsible development that characterize the resort at large. From the carefully curated wine list at mar’sel to the fun-yet-eco-friendly vibe at Nelson’s — eating at Terranea is an experience unto itself. Terranea Resort offers a variety of unique restaurants and fine dining experiences sure to please any palate.

Wellness

THE SPA AT TERRANEA | Overlooking the Pacific Ocean and the Palos Verdes coastline, The Spa at Terranea embraces the beauty and energy of its idyllic setting to create a transformative experience for mind, body and spirit. Designed by the foremost experts in wellness and restorative therapy, the 50,000-square-foot oceanfront Spa, Fitness and Wellness Center, and Salon invites you to immerse yourself in a variety of experiences that bring you back to center. Indulge in an array of spa treatments for body and face: some traditional, and others inspired by Terranea’s unique coastal locale. Plunge into the outdoor pool, work out in the expansive gym or achieve balance with a restorative yoga class. The Spa’s customized treatments and peaceful ambiance encourage you to reconnect with nature and leave you feeling renewed.

Retail

MAREA BOUTIQUE | Terranea offers a luxuriant resort shopping experience at its Mediterranean influenced boutique, marea. Named for the Italian and Spanish words for tide, marea’s unique and intimate retail space showcases high-end resort wear, adventure apparel and exclusive, one-of-a-kind jewelry and home goods for men, women and children.
For some in the South Bay, it is difficult to imagine a time before Terranea was part of their local landscape. In the ten years since the resort’s impressive June 2009 opening, Terranea has built a sterling legacy. Beloved by members of our community and revered by travelers and hospitality industry professionals alike, Terranea has earned a reputation for consistently delivering an exceptional and memorable resort experience to every guest who enters its doors.
The Terranea Story: Milestones

YOUR FEET ARE PLANTED ON AN ANCIENT ISLAND
The Palos Verdes Peninsula was once part of the Channel Islands, a sister to the island you see to the west, Catalina Island.

NO LAND WAS HARMED IN THE MAKING OF THIS RESORT
No land was removed from the area during the development. The land of Terranea and the majority of the materials from the pre-existing, abandoned structures were recycled and used in the site preparation of the new resort.

LOCAL ART IS ALWAYS ON DISPLAY
Hallways and public spaces feature the majestic artistry of local artisans.

SUNRISE AND SET OVER THE OCEAN FROM A SINGLE VANTAGE POINT
The Resort’s dramatic setting with its south facing, panoramic 270-degree views of the Pacific, makes this one of the rare places where one can see the sun both rise and set over the ocean from a single vantage point. This can occur during the months of December and January when the sun is at its most southern location in the sky.

WHALES, WHALES, WHALES
The annual whale migration takes place right off the coast of Terranea and the official count is conducted at the nearby Interpretive Center. Terranea guests can participate in the whale count through the Volunteer Program.

COOL & UNUSUAL facts

MEMORIES OF MARINELAND
The resort sits on the former site of Marineland of the Pacific. Over 50 years ago, Marineland planted scores of trees as small as 3.5 inches. Forty-five of these now majestic, mature trees were boxed, preserved and now serve as an integral connection to Terranea’s sense of place and historical context. The plants on site are native plantings.
TERRANEA’S DAILY SUNSET RITUAL
Each evening at sunset, the end of the day is signified by the ringing of crystal singing bowls, an ancient ritual known for healing and relaxation through sound and vibration.

THE SHIRT OFF OUR BACK
Employee uniforms are made from eco-friendly fabrics to minimize dry-cleaning. One material chosen is made from recycled water bottles and has a tremendously soft feel.

NELSON’S PAYS TRIBUTE

Nelson’s pays tribute to Lloyd Bridges’ lifetime efforts to protect the environment and ocean with furnishings all made of recycled materials including a centerpiece bar countertop made completely from recycled wine bottles.

TERRANEA ON THE SILVER SCREEN
A favorite Hollywood film site featured in films such as Pirates of the Caribbean, Batman, Entourage, American Idol, Charlie’s Angels, Fun with Dick and Jane, Aviator and Pearl Harbor. More recently Jud Apatow’s This is 40 and Oliver Stone’s The Savages starring John Travolta and Selma Hayek.

THE LINKS AT TERRANEA
The Links at Terranea is a 9-hole par 3 course – unique in itself in Southern California. But golfers will also get a sense of place as the tee box on each hole faces a noted Palos Verdes area landmark.

HELPING NATURE IS ALWAYS IN VIEW
Three telescopes along the scenic bluffs allow guests to enjoy the views of nature, while at the same time using the experience as a “teachable moment.” The telescopes are dedicated to environmental non-profit organizations to further their exemplary work via these informational efforts and donations.

Spa treatments and fitness classes correspond to the body’s natural bio-rhythms. In the morning, treatments and programs energize and invigorate. In the afternoon, treatments are calming and restorative.

FARM-TO-TERRANEAN

Culinary enthusiasts can raise a glass to California coastal cuisine, with gourmet flair, at Terranea Resort. Led by Executive Chef Bernard Ibarra, Terranea’s chefs celebrate the natural surroundings of the resort with the Farm-to-Terranea program which continues to evolve in 2019.

sea salt

With an abundance of some of the purest ocean water available along the Pacific coast, Executive Chef Bernard Ibarra harvests ocean water collected right off the shores of Terranea’s beach cove. Our Sea Salt Conservatory serves as a natural evaporation greenhouse resulting in high quality sea salt, ultimately enabling the resort to become sea salt-sustainable. Terranea sea salt is not only used in the foods that are prepared, but it is available for purchase so guests can experience a taste of Terranea at home.

olives

The culinary program continues to expand as we harvest olives at local orchard Villa Oneiro, meaning “house of dreams,” located on the Palos Verdes Peninsula. Villa Oneiro has more than 70 olive trees of different Mediterranean varieties that give the Terranea chefs the opportunity to press and produce our own authentic olive oil. This autumn, be our guest for our annual olive harvesting ceremony, a new tradition that serves to educate about the cultivation process, while guests and the local community experience crafted food and wine pairings.

honey

Terranea has four beehives located less than one mile from the resort, at the Catalina View Garden. These hives are home to over 150,000 bees and four queen bees. The honey produced by our buzzing ‘employbees’ are used in candies, rubs, pastries, and salad dressings as well as paired with homemade cheeses at the Terranea dining outlets.

garden

From the beginning, the garden at mar’sel has provided a fresh abundance of citrus fruits, vegetables, and seasonal herbs. As the Farm-to-Terranea movement expanded, the garden did as well. Thousands of pounds of produce will be grown at Catalina View Garden this year and used in all the restaurants throughout the resort as well as at our many events.

eggs

In 2017, Terranea took a new approach to the “farm-to-table” concept by initiating a chicken program at Catalina View Garden. The chicken coop is called, “The Inn at Terranea” and has six chickens in residence. The Terranea culinary team uses fresh eggs from the chickens for featured dishes at mar’sel and interactive private breakfast experiences for our guests.

kelp

Terranea’s evolving sustainability culture added a Giant Kelp program to its ever-growing list of initiatives. Once a week, you will find the Chef Bernard Ibarra hand-harvesting the beautiful, healthy sea vegetables, right on top of the kelp forest or by the Peninsula’s shoreline. Once harvested, kelp is air-dried in the Sea Salt Conservatory providing a very natural and picturesque setting as well as a healthy ocean air environment.
